Chaoran Zhou is an artist based in Toronto working across painting, installation, sculpture, photography and video. As well as a curator, He has curated exhibitions for a number of artists and designers, on his own and in collaboration with others. Zhou's work is grounded in the complexity of postmodern cultural spaces, often appearing as an investigator and undertaker. His art focuses on creating powerful experiences that explore deep psychological and emotional experiences, often appearing unobtrusive but without offering direct messages and statements.
